

VIVIAN McCUNE DIES IN THE EAST

Well-Known Salt Lake Man Is Killed by Pneumonia After Brief Illness.

IT STARTS WITH A COLD

BODY WILL ARRIVE MONDAY AND WILL BE BURIED HERE.

Earl Vivian McCune, 30 years of age, son of A. W. McCune, died at 9 o'clock Thursday night of pneumonia at a hospital in New York City. His illness had been of several weeks' duration. His wife was at his bedside.

"Viv" McCune, as he was best known among his friends, left for New York, Feb. 7, to dispose of some Colorado oil land interests which he had inherited in about two years ago. While there he caught a severe cold, which affected his heart greatly and afterward developed into pneumonia. He wrote to his wife about his illness, but gave no particulars.

Mrs. McCune, who was Miss Louise Groesbeck, heard disquieting rumors about the state of his health and telegraphed to him that she was coming to New York. He answered to come immediately, and she arrived there on Monday. She found her husband in the last stages of pneumonia.

Body Will Be Here Monday.

Mrs. McCune wired yesterday morning of his death and late yesterday afternoon telegraphed that she had left New York with the body and would arrive here Monday night if the train was not delayed. The arrangements for the funeral will be made after the arrival of Mrs. McCune. Messages were sent to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McCune, who are in Peru, advising them of their son's death. A. W. McCune, Jr., the eldest son, is also in Peru attending to his father's mining interests.

Vivian McCune was the second son of a family of seven children and was well known in mining circles. He was president of the Watseka Gold Mining company of Montana, and later organized the Utah-Idaho Mining company, which he had been president of for some time. He was interested in a number of other mining enterprises with his father, one of them being the Victor Consolidated Mining company of Tintic, of which he was vice president at the time of his death. Mr. McCune invested considerable money in oil lands. At the time of the excitement at Rangely, Colo., he invested in oil lands there, and it was business in connection with those lands which called him to New York.

Studied Law at Harvard.

Mr. McCune studied law at Harvard college, but never practiced it as a profession. After leaving college he became interested in mines with his father, and afterward followed mining as a business.

Mr. McCune married Miss Louise Groesbeck about nine years ago. She has one child, a baby girl, about one year old. Their first child, a boy, died about four years ago. Mr. McCune has three sisters and three brothers. They are A. W. McCune, Jr., Mrs. Raymond C. Naylor, Raymond McCune, Mrs. E. H. Green, and Marcus and Bessie McCune.

DININNY PUTS HILES IN A HOLE

Assistant City Attorney Causes Mental Anguish for His Brother Patriots.

PARTY ORGAN LED ASTRAY

AMERICAN LEADERS WILL TRY TO FORGET BLUNDER.

City Attorney Ogden Hiles, according to gossip around the city end of the joint building, has been placed in an exceedingly embarrassing position by H. J. Dininny, his principal assistant, who, it is claimed, rushed precipitately to the conclusion that the former city administration had failed to secure water rights in Big Cottonwood creek before starting the conduit. The utter failure of the latest attempt to discredit Mr. Dininny is causing Mr. Hiles to be roundly "cussed" for his rashness by many of his party associates.

Mr. Dininny is blamed by his party friends with doing too much to the manufacture of political thunder against the preceding administration and too little time to a study of the legal question as to whether or not the city had any water rights which it could enforce. As a result, it is claimed, Mr. Dininny was not only publicly humiliated by Councilman F. S. Fernstrom, a layman, but he has placed Judge Hiles, his chief, in a position from which the latter, as a lawyer, must eventually recede.

Hiles Didn't Know Facts.

There is little disposition on the part of anybody to attack Judge Hiles' ability as a lawyer; but it is current comment, even among American members of the council, that he accepted Dininny's views too readily, and devoted little or no time to a study of the question himself.

Judge Hiles has a private practice, and the fact that he is city attorney is not causing him to neglect it. He is almost a stranger in his public office in the joint building; he rarely attends a council meeting, and he leaves nearly everything connected with the city's legal affairs to Mr. Dininny, who is the "whole show" so far as the city attorney's office is concerned. Mr. Dininny rarely consults Judge Hiles unless he finds himself in deep water.

In the matter of the city's water rights, Mr. Dininny didn't know he was in deep water until Mr. Fernstrom began to shoot facts at him. Then he sat up and took notice, but it was too late. All he could do was to lose his temper. Meanwhile, however, he had induced the organ of the American party to endorse publicly his legal conclusions. True, the article in the party organ purported to come from Judge Hiles, but it is well-known in official circles that all the research made of the question was made by Mr. Dininny, and that Judge Hiles' name was a mere figurehead to the break made by the newspaper.

Judge Hiles Subsides.

That Judge Hiles felt that his subordinate had placed him in a hole was evident in his ten minutes before the meeting of the waterworks committee began Monday night. The moment Mr. Fernstrom began to demonstrate that Mr. Dininny was a mile out of the way, Judge Hiles took a back seat and let Mr. Dininny bear the brunt of battle and get himself out of his predicament the best way he could.

Mr. Dininny's bitterness toward the former Democratic administration is defined by those who know him best as the bitterness of an apostate or a renegade. He was once an ambitious and aspiring Democratic politician himself. When he joined the American party he was severely criticized by many of his former Democratic associates, with the result, it is said, that he hates everything that savors of Democracy. This is the reason, it is said, why he devotes more time to attempts to discredit the previous administration than he devotes to the study of the city's legal problems.

Organ as a Humorist.

The intimation in the American party organ that as a result of the mare's nest "discovered" by Mr. Dininny, work might be stopped on the conduit and the contract cancelled, has been one of the greatest hilarity-provoking jokes in the brief but exciting history of the American administration. Contractor Patrick J. Moran has demonstrated that his company (the American party caucus) in the city council, and that its influence with City Engineer L. C. Kelsey and the board of public works is greater than all other influences combined. When it is suggested that this aggregation would consent to anything that would take dollars from Moran's pocket there is a general laugh.

It is pointed out, moreover, that Mr. Moran has a written contract with the city, which he can enforce in a court of law, and that the American party only recently emphasized the binding nature of that contract by allowing Mr. Moran over $5,000 in "extras."

Many Americans are denouncing the party organ for setting up a cry that there would be no water to put in the conduit when it was completed, right on the heels of the $75,000 allowance.

The impression prevails that about the last has been heard of the contention that the city has no water rights in Big Cottonwood creek, and that the American leaders will try to forget as quickly as possible the blunder made by Mr. Dininny.

LIVES STYLE; GOES TO JAIL

H. H. O'Haver Is Charged With Buying Many Luxuries Under False Pretenses.

FRIENDS GIVE HIS BAIL

HE IS ACCUSED OF MORTGAGING FURNITURE HE DID NOT OWN.

H. H. O'Haver, 27 years of age, lately from Butte, Mont., was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant sworn to by F. W. Little, of the Little & Little company, for obtaining money under false pretenses. Bail in the sum of $500 was fixed in his case yesterday by Judge C. B. Diehl. It was furnished by some of his friends, and he was released.

Some few days ago O'Haver stepped from the Oregon Short Line train from Butte and, representing himself as a wealthy business man, rented six rooms, 401-406 Security building. Armed with cards, which represented the "American Skillard company," and to which his name was attached as manager, he started out to furnish his suit of rooms.

Buys Furniture With Checks.

He secured about $1,500 worth of furniture from various stores on alleged checks. As soon as the furniture was delivered he gave a chattel mortgage for $500 on it to Little & Little. Mr. Little advanced $50 on the mortgage on the evidence that he had several receipts for furniture signed by the Minnesota Furniture company of Idaho Falls. For two or three days O'Haver had been negotiating the purchase of an automobile and several other articles without any capital in sight.

One Check Turned Down.

The Greenwald furniture store also holds a check which was given by O'Haver for a bill of furniture he had purchased there, but which he never received. He asked the firm to hold the check for him, and called up his bank account a few dollars, but that his remittance, which was overdue, would be received almost any day. The management of the company grew suspicious and decided to hold the furniture until the bank accepted the check. This will be used in the case against O'Haver.

Arrested by Strategem.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Joseph Sharp. He attempted to get into O'Haver's suite of rooms, but apparently there was nobody there. Deputy Sharp stepped to a telephone and called up his apartment. A woman answered the telephone and said that O'Haver had gone to Butte.

"This is the telephone office and there is an important message here for him. What shall I do with it?" asked the officer.

The telegram was ordered delivered, and Deputy Sharp went to O'Haver's apartments, where the man was found lounging in a chair and smoking.

The warrant was served and O'Haver was taken to the county jail. The woman who was in O'Haver's rooms was allowed to go.

KILLS CATARRHAL GERMS

Breathe Hyomei a Few Times Daily and Be Cured—Goes Right to the Spot.

In treating catarrhal troubles, the first thing necessary is to kill all catarrhal germs that may be present in the nose, throat and lungs, thus freeing the system from the poison that they produce.

Stomach dosing cannot kill these germs. A direct local treatment is absolutely necessary, and for this purpose nothing else equals Hyomei.

Its base is the famous eucalyptus oil. This is combined with other healing, aromatic gums and balsams, making a germ-killing, health-giving treatment for catarrh, entirely unlike anything else known. When you breathe Hyomei the air you breathe is like that on the mountains, high above sea level, where the pine forests fill the air with fragrant and healing balsams that give health and strength to those suffering from diseases of the respiratory organs.

Breathed through the neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, Hyomei reaches every tissue of nose, throat and lungs giving immediate relief, and effecting a permanent cure in the worst cases of catarrh.

The complete outfit, consisting of an inhaler, medicine dropper, and one bottle of Hyomei, costs only $1. Extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents. F. C. Schramm gives a guarantee with every Hyomei outfit that the treatment will cost nothing unless it cures.

OFFICE BLOCK FOR STATE ST.

R. A. Bowan of Los Angeles to Build Handsome Structure Between Second and Third South.

WORK WILL BEGIN SHORTLY

TO RELIEVE CONGESTED CONDITION IN BUSINESS PROPERTY.

A handsome new office building will be erected on State street within the next six months by R. A. Bowan, millionaire real estate dealer of Los Angeles, Cal. The exact location has not as yet been decided upon, nor have the plans been drawn, but the building is a certainty, according to information a letter received yesterday from Mr. Bowan by C. S. Holmes of the Knutsford hotel. It is probable that the building will be erected on the property immediately adjoining the Knutsford hotel or just south of the corner of State and Second south on the west side. Mr. Bowan owns four sites in the heart of the city, two on State street and two on Second South just east of State.

Several months ago Mr. Bowan, who is recognized as one of the leading dealers in improved and unimproved realty in Los Angeles, made heavy investments in Salt Lake property. His expenditures at that time amounted to about $125,000. At the time of his purchases here he stated that he would hold them for investment purposes. The announcement of yesterday was unexpected, as it was thought for a long time that Mr. Bowan would make no improvement whatsoever beyond those in which he and Mr. Holmes are interested, and which are being made at the present time.

Will Come in Three Months.

Mr. Bowan is now on his way to Europe, where he will stay for a period of three months. After his return, he stated in his letter, he will come directly to Salt Lake and would make arrangements for the construction of an office building on one of the State street sites.

"From what I know of Mr. Bowan," said Mr. Holmes yesterday, "Salt Lake may well feel proud of the announcement that he has decided to build and does things by halves or in a puny manner. When he builds, he builds something which will last forever, and will be worth mention."

"I suppose from the contents of the letter that the contemplated building will be thoroughly modern in every respect and a fine up-to-date office structure. Mr. Bowan has spoken of the needs of Salt Lake along these lines many times."

"Salt Lake is decidedly lacking in good office and business blocks. The small buildings are crowded and out of date. If a good building were erected here it would pay from the outset. The few big buildings are badly kept and not thoroughly modern, as all will agree."

Boosts for State Street.

"State street is the coming business thoroughfare. It may be a good many years before we see the full fruition of this statement but I firmly believe it will come eventually. Mr. Bowan, after looking over dozens of pieces of property, decided upon State street as the best place to see the full fruition of this statement now by announcing the construction of an office structure."

"The opportunities were never greater for safe investment in Salt Lake realty. Most any business man could see a net income of 5 per cent if he improved a little."

COMPANIES H AND D WILL GO

Connections With National Guard Will Be Severed Within Few Days.

Companies H and D of the national guard will sever their connection with a few days. Adjutant General Ray C. Naylor will sign the orders mustering these two companies out as soon as they are presented to him. Company H numbered some time ago seventy-five members, but has now dwindled down to a faithful few. The company was under the command of Captain H. Bassett, who handed in his resignation when that of Adjutant General Joseph Geoghegan was received by the authorities. Captain Bassett was followed by nearly every member of his company.

Company D has, but one member left of a large number constituting its ranks several months ago. Company D has been under the command of First Lieutenant Joseph Winkler. The members of this company were for the greater part transferred to company C, organized a few weeks ago. Company D is now being mustered out. The company was organized by Colonel H. M. H. Lund at Mount Pleasant recently will be issued within the next few days for the election of officers. Captain O. H. Hassing, acting adjutant, is authorized to inspect companies H and D recently and reported to Colonel Lund that their conditions were such that they required mustering out or reorganization necessary.

HEARERS LAUGH AND THINK.

A good-sized audience welcomed Lou J. Beachamp as the sixth number of the series of entertainments given at the Y. M. C. A. His combination of sense, wit and pathos led his audience to believe that he well deserved the title, "A thinker who makes you laugh; a humorist who makes you think." He treated murder, divorce, evils and political corruption from the time of birth to the grave, stating that the number is increasing, especially in this country.

The Pure Food Roll of Honor

"Good Housekeeping," a well known household national magazine, voluntarily made a thorough examination and test of None-Such Mince Meat, and placed it without reservation upon its roll of honor.

In the March number of Good Housekeeping, in the department of "Pure Food Assurance," we find:

"None-Such Mince Meat, Merrill-Soule Co., Syracuse, a semi-moist condensed compound of beef, apples, spices, sugar, raisins, currants, boiled cider, and salt, without any other preservatives or adulterants, no artificial coloring, produced under conditions as near to sanitary perfection as possible."

This guarantee, which could not be bought at any price, ought to satisfy the most particular housewife. The sale of one million packages a month seems to prove the statement to be true. Your grocer sells None-Such. Try it, and satisfy yourself. You are the one.

GOVERNORS PLAN THEIR CAMPAIGN

Civic Improvement League Will Wage War Against Dirt in Salt Lake.

WANT STREET KEPT CLEAN

COMMITTEE WILL MAKE DEMANDS UPON CITY COUNCIL.

A meeting of the board of governors of the Civic Improvement league was held in the headquarters of the Manufacturers and Merchants' association last evening. A committee of five members of the board was appointed to call upon the city council and request that ten sanitary inspectors be appointed by the city council to serve for an indefinite period of time. These ten inspectors are to be aided by the city's general appearance and cleanliness through the aid of all members of the league. Each member will report any nuisances to the proper authorities. In addition to this, the committee, comprising Mrs. Edwin Kimball, Mrs. M. Bailey, Jay T. Harris, O. H. Hewlett and Charles A. Quigley, will ask that immediate steps be taken toward cleaning the main streets in the business portion of the town. The suggestion will be made that all paved streets be washed, not sprinkled, every morning.

In this connection the committee will request that sweeping of streets be postponed each day until after midnight. Dr. T. B. Beatty said the dust raised by sweepers is decidedly unhealthful to persons on the streets.

The meeting was presided over by President Frank B. Stephens. Oscar L. Cox, secretary of the league, was present. Others in attendance were O. H. Hewlett, H. W. Lawrence, Dr. T. B. Beatty, L. M. Bailey, Mrs. Edwin Kimball, Mrs. E. C. Crismon, Jay T. Harris, Charles A. Quigley and Judge O. T. Jones. Mrs. Simon Bamberger submitted a written resignation as treasurer and a member of the board of governors of the league. This was accepted and Harry Sherman was elected to succeed Mrs. Bamberger. Miss Annie Cannon's resignation as member of the board of governors was also accepted, and Mrs. Susie Young Gates selected to fill the vacancy.

Methods Are Discussed.

A large portion of the meeting was devoted to discussion of the work to be adopted and the consideration of methods to be used in making Salt Lake a clean city.

Vacant Lots Made Clean.

Henry W. Lawrence suggested that residents of this city be urged to plant shade trees along undeveloped lots. Mr. Lawrence also suggested that steps be taken toward having the ordinance enforced forbidding owners of lots allowing weeds to grow along sidewalks.

"Cans, refuse and rubbish of all descriptions could be seen on vacant lots along Salt Lake's finest streets," said the speaker. He further suggested that owners be requested to clean all vacant lots. O. H. Hewlett offered a typewritten list of suggestions. Besides advocating that sanitary inspectors be appointed, he said that the city could be made more attractive by the removal of all old fences, the removal of debris from lots, and the cleaning of paved streets daily by other suggestions.

Places to Register.

A membership committee was selected, consisting of H. W. Lawrence, M. Bailey, Pritchard, Mrs. L. M. Bailey, Mrs. C. S. Kinney and Mrs. Edwin Kimball. This committee will make arrangements for the establishment of registration places. The drug stores and large mercantile institutions will probably be supplied with enrollment blanks. Persons desiring to join the league will be able to do so by depositing an entrance fee of 25 cents without receipt of a receipt. The meeting was adjourned to meet Tuesday evening in the Commercial club.

DENIES HE WILL SELL ROAD

Senator Simon Bamberger Says He Will Retain Possession and Extend.

Senator Simon Bamberger made an emphatic denial yesterday of the story that he might sell his road to the Burlington. "The Salt Lake & Ogden railroad is not for sale at any price," he said. "You cannot make this too emphatic. I am not selling, but I won't sell, either now or later. I am extending the road purely as a personal investment and for my own satisfaction. I am not selling, but I won't sell, either now or later. I am extending the road purely as a personal investment and for my own satisfaction. I am not selling, but I won't sell, either now or later. I am extending the road purely as a personal investment and for my own satisfaction."

Mr. Bamberger expressed the opinion that the story had been started maliciously, for the purpose of interfering with his plans of extension.

REFUSE TO AID INJURED MAN

Police Throw Into Jail Man Whose Offense Is Being Run Down by Car.

SCORED BY JUDGE DIEHL

CHARGE OF DRUNKENNESS FALLS TO THE GROUND.

After being knocked down by a West Side Rapid Transit car at Tenth South and Third West streets Thursday night, and sustaining injuries which rendered him unconscious, Albert Lemmon was dragged into the drunk house at the city jail and booked as being drunk. This charge was preferred by Police Officer Pierce, into whose charge the man was delivered by the conductor of the car which ran him down.

Lemmon remained in the city jail all night without medical attention, and his injuries may prove serious. His head was bruised in several places and a deep gash inflicted just above his left eye. Before he was taken into court yesterday afternoon his wounds were dressed. Lemmon is a farmer and lives in the southwestern part of the city. He declared in the police court yesterday that he was not drunk when he was struck down by the car. He says he did not hear the car coming until it was right on him, and was struck down before he could get off the track. According to his story, he was on his way home and was down the middle of the car tracks on account of the muddy streets.

Lemmon was released by Judge Diehl, and the case was remanded to the criminal court for trial on Monday.

THOMAS' FATE WITH JURY

At Early Hour Murder Case Against Negro Is Undecided—Trial Is Over.

At 1 o'clock this morning the jury in the case of Jess Thomas, colored, charged with the murder of Harry Wilson, also colored, was still deliberating on its verdict. The case was submitted to the jury by Judge F. Chidester at 9:55 o'clock last night.

The defendant himself was the star witness yesterday. He claimed that he feared Wilson, and that when Wilson jumped up from the card table, after they had had a quarrel over a game of "coon-can," and went into the next room, he followed him into the other room, but that he did not draw his own gun until Wilson made a motion toward his hip pocket. Then, he claimed, he drew his gun, and fired, and the intention of striking Wilson with it. Wilson, he claimed, grappled with him, and in the struggle the revolver was exploded twice. The defense put on additional evidence as to the quarrelsome nature of Wilson's nature.

The argument was opened about 2:30 o'clock by the district attorney, Attorney P. G. Looftow, who spoke three-quarters of an hour. Attorney Samuel A. King, for the defense, spoke for an equal length of time before dinner and for about an hour and a half after dinner. Mr. Looftow's closing argument lasted only twelve minutes. Judge Chidester then instructed the jury.

"I'm going to be busy this spring. One reason is, all of my old customers stay by me and I'm getting new ones every day. Remember."
